

PLANS PERFECTED FOR DEL RIO DAIRY

Harvey Interests Ready To Commence Large Improvements

(From Sunday's Daily.)

G. W. Hankin, superintendent of the Harvey interests at Del Rio, while in the city yesterday, stated that plans have been submitted to his firm by W. S. Elliott, Prescott architect, for all buildings to be erected, and that after the same are officially accepted, construction work will be inaugurated. Eleven separate structures are to be built, involving a large outlay. One of the principal buildings will be the milking barn, which will have a width of 35 and a length of 115 feet, of concrete. Feed sheds, a large corral, a mess, milk, ice and other houses will make one of the most complete institutions in the dairy line in the territory.

It is believed actual construction will commence inside of the next thirty days and the force of mechanics employed will reach at least fifty. The principal consideration extended this tract in the building line to be followed out immediately, results from nearly two years of experimental cultivation of the large acreage taken over under lease from the city. In that time a prolific yield in hay and grain has resulted, and particularly was this true last year when over 200 tons of alfalfa was shipped to the feeding pens along the main line of the Santa Fe. The area now under cultivation is said to have been materially enlarged, and with the system of ditches it is believed that over 300 acres will be reclaimed.

The Harvey interests will soon begin moving dairy cows from all stations along the main line, estimated to number at least 400 head, and after the Del Rio enterprise is in full swing, but one supply point will be available for the needs of the eating house system from Winslow west to Needles. To maintain the new supply point, a large force of men will be necessary. Before the year passes it is expected this enterprise will be systematically running.

GLOOMY OUTLOOK FOR NEW YORK TRAMPS.

NEW YORK, June 1.—There is gloom among the members of the ancient if not royal order of tramps, for plans are now under way to make New York the first trampless state in the country and to change it from the paradise of paupers, which it now is, to a territory to be shunned by every professional hobo. Of the 500,000 tramps in the whole country figures show that about 50,000 of this army of social parasites are always to be found in this state and about 10,000 in this city alone. More than $2,000,000 a year is spent in this state for the maintenance of this army in jails and other institutions, while the cost of the damage to property and crimes committed together with general contributions brings the total up to $10,000,000. While the plan by which it is proposed to wipe out this wasteful expenditure and at the same time eliminate the tramp problem has never been tried in this country it has proven so successful abroad that there is no doubt as to its efficiency here. It proposes to establish somewhere in the state a tramp farm colony to which vagrants can be sent and where the products of their labor will be used toward their maintenance. The professional hobo for whom work has no attractions will doubtless give the state a wide berth while those sent to the farm will be given an opportunity to become useful citizens. The most successful of these colonies abroad actually makes money, and it is believed that a similar result could be accomplished here. The matter is now before the Legislature in the form of a bill providing for the requirement of the necessary land and within about one minute after its passage there is certain to occur the greatest tramp exodus which this state has ever known.

QUANT NEW LINE

IS READY FOR SERVICE.

BELFAST, June 1.—Another the wrecking of countless whistles and the cheers from a large assemblage, the mammoth new White Star liner Olympic, Captain Smith, R. N. R., sailed out of port today for Liverpool. It is the initial trial of the largest of all steamships and as a consequence it is attracting much attention in marine circles. The ship will remain at Liverpool a day for public inspection and then will proceed to Plymouth and Southampton. On June 14 she is scheduled to start on her maiden voyage to New York.

The Olympic is not only the largest of all ocean liners but also the most luxurious in her furnishings and decorations. Among her special features are squash and racquet courts, gymnasium, swimming tank and Turkish bath. She will have accommodations for 600 first, 500 second, and 1,200 steerage passengers. Her crew will consist of the commander, 7 deck officers, and 70 seamen.

CORONADO TO BUILD MILL.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

W. F. Sawyer, general manager of the Coronado Mining Company, returned to his camp yesterday. He stated that the new mill is en route and would be running inside of the next thirty days. The plant has been ordered to treat the large deposits recently discovered on ground not heretofore worked, and which he classifies as a pipe deposit. A large tonnage is ready, and the extent of the pay streak is as yet undetermined. The pay dirt has streaks running to as high as $150 a ton, while the three feet will average over $40. The drift is in 125 feet and the face is 140 feet deep.

Journal-Miner—High class job work

ALL CREEDS TO HONOR DISTINGUISHED PRELATE

BALTIMORE Md., June 3.—If the Fifth Regiment Armory in this city was as large as Madison Square Garden it could not accommodate the crowd of persons who have applied for tickets of admission to the jubilee services in honor of Cardinal Gibbons next Tuesday afternoon. The celebration is to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the ordination of Cardinal Gibbons to the priesthood and the twenty-fifth anniversary of his cardinalate.

The committee on arrangements, which includes churchmen of all creeds, plans to make the celebration national in its scope. To this end the governors of the various States, mayors of cities and other persons of prominence in every section of the country have been invited to participate. President Taft and ex-President Roosevelt will head the list of speakers. Others who are expected to deliver addresses are Chief Justice White of the Supreme Court of the United States, Vice President Sherman, Speaker Champ Clark, Governor Crothers of Maryland, Mayor Preston of Baltimore, and Bishop John Gardiner Murray of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Maryland. The celebration next Tuesday is to be of a purely civic character and entirely distinct from the ecclesiastical jubilee services to be held next fall and in which noted dignitaries of the Roman Catholic church throughout the world will participate. The present demonstration is designed as a recognition of the influence which Cardinal Gibbons has exercised for high ideals in citizenship and patriotism.

The years of life have told lightly upon Cardinal Gibbons, and to look at him one would not imagine that he is in his seventy-seventh year. Never what can be termed robust, a frugal husbandry of his physical powers has more than atoned for what nature did not bestow.

His Eminence was born in this city July 23, 1834, of Irish parents. During his boyhood he was taken to Ireland, where he received the elements of a liberal education. On returning to the United States it was determined by his parents to consecrate him to the service of God, and he entered St. Charles College, Maryland, where he graduated with distinction in 1857. Thence he went to St. Mary's Seminary, where, after taking the usual courses of theology and philosophy, he was ordained a priest June 6, 1861, by Archbishop Kendrick.

Father Gibbons was at once assigned to duty, and hard duty at that time, in the city of Baltimore, serving first as an assistant priest at St. Patrick's Church, East Baltimore, under the famous Father James Dolan. In 1868 he was appointed vicar apostolic of North Carolina. He remained four years in North Carolina and displayed such remarkable administrative abilities that on the death of Bishop McGill he was transferred to Richmond, Va., where he was installed bishop in 1872. His administration in Richmond was marked by practical results of the most important character. In 1877 Bishop Gibbons was appointed coadjutor with the right of succession to the late Archbishop Bayley of Baltimore. He was installed archbishop at the cathedral in this city February 10, 1878. In 1887 he received the red hat of the cardinalate in Rome at the hands of Pope Leo XIII.

The same energy, zeal and great executive ability which characterized Cardinal Gibbons' labors in other spheres have been displayed in the more exalted and responsible office which he fills at present. He is one of the most democratic of men—plain, unostentatious and distinguished for good sense in everything he does. He is extremely charitable, and his income does not meet the demands upon it.

As a preacher Cardinal Gibbons is always learned and interesting and often eloquent. His sermons he prepares in advance, but he is also a good extempore orator. Having been so long accustomed to figuring in public affairs and conducting the great functions of the church, he is never flustered or nervous, but when he rises to make an address is composed and fluent.

As an author, the Cardinal holds a high rank in the literature of his church, and his "Faith of Our Fathers" is regarded by eminent scholars and divines of every creed as a masterpiece of logic and literary excellence. With all his learning and attainments, Cardinal Gibbons is one of the most modest of men, and for his broad views, his public spirit and patriotism he is thoroughly admired and esteemed by citizens of every creed.

RENOMINATION OF TAFT

ABSOLUTE CERTAINTY.

(By United States Press Asso.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 31.—It may be set down as an absolute certainty that the numerous dispatches, going out from Washington to the effect that President Taft will not be a candidate next year, are idle gossip. During the past week it has been made clear that ex-President Roosevelt will give his hearty support to the renomination of President Taft. Governor Chase Osborn of Michigan, one of the greatest progressives of the country, is also outspoken in favor of the nomination. Congress has been somewhat obstreperous with the President, but the Executive has been demonstrating that he is entire master of the situation, and his legislative ideas have been pretty well carried out through the Sixty-first Congress and the special session. While there is a good deal of talk to the effect that Senator LaFollette and other progressives will attempt to stand in the way of the renomination of Mr. Taft, it is believed here that the political atmosphere is clearing so rapidly that all opposition will disappear long months before the campaign of 1912 is initiated.

The question of surrender by the Federal government of the control of the election of United States Senators has become an important factor in this big subject of legislation. The bill recently passed by the House provides that control of these elections shall remain with the states. The Sutherland amendment, which has been reported by a minority from the Senate Judiciary Committee, contends that the people of the United States cannot afford to surrender to the states this important function which it has exercised since the beginning of the nation in election matters, since the policy with respect to elections of members of the lower house has always been adhered to. Of course, the "nigger in the fence" is easily discovered as the Southern Democrats fear that unless they retain state control of their elections, that the United States government may become troublesome in the Southern states where the negro voters have been disfranchised.

The Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee of the House, who have been trying to find a plan for the revision of the tariff on wool, have been having plenty of trouble, owing to a division of sentiment as to whether the tariff should be reduced or wool placed upon the free list. The advocates of lower tariff schedules are hearing from all over the country, and a mighty protest has been raised. The Democrats are discovering that their program would leave the United States treasury empty, and they have fallen back upon their old plan to protect wool interests sufficiently to secure "a tariff for revenue only."

PLANNING UNIQUE

AUTOMOBILE TOUR.

SPOKANE, Wash., June 1.—What promises to be one of the most unique automobile trips yet undertaken in America is planned by F. O. Berg of Spokane, who contemplates making a circuit of the boundary lines of the United States starting from this city the middle of June. Accompanied by his family, Mr. Berg will drive to the Washington-British Columbia line thence along the Pacific coast to San Diego. After touching the Mexican border the party will pass through Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and Louisiana to New Orleans, thence through Alabama and Florida, continuing the trip northward into New England, visiting Washington, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York, Boston and other large centers. From New York the route follows the northern boundary westward to Spokane. Mr. Berg does not intend to break long distance records, nor has he any idea of setting a new mark for speed. He will drive a touring car, fitted with full camp equipment for use between towns or during bad weather.

GOOD SHOWING IS REPORTED IN NELSON

Five Fissures Cut in The Last Fifty Feet Of Shaft

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Satisfactory progress on the Nelson mines near Crown King is reported by Geo. P. Harrington, general manager, while the mineral determinations are better than anticipated. The incline shaft is down 125 feet, following a dip of 72 degrees for the first 80 feet where the vein was left and the shaft continued on a plane of 68 degrees. Remarkable and unexpected conditions have been demonstrated since the dip was changed and the surface vein passed through, five distinct fissures having been exposed in the last fifty feet. The ore bodies show a width of not less than three feet, of an iron sulphide, with principal values in gold and silver, and a small percentage in copper.

Mr. Harrington states that he was surprised in the deeper workings to see native copper coming in, which forms an interesting feature of what is to be expected in development to depth. Most of the veins cut are blind on the surface. When additional depth of about fifty feet is reached, it is the purpose to begin crosscutting and drifting principally to the north to ascertain values. The depth contemplated is 300 feet, which will be extended later.

The Nelson group is, among the best known in the Bradshaw mountains. The work under way is the first extended the group in many years.

WATER FAMINE

THREATENING CHICAGO.

CHICAGO, June 1.—Notwithstanding the 635,000,000 gallons pumped daily the water famine in Chicago has become serious, park fountains will be shut down, the park sprinkling will be restricted (as well as that of citizens) and in several sections of the city during some hours of the day no water at all flows from the faucets. No relief of this condition is in sight until late in August when a new pumping plant which will add 25,000,000 gallons daily will be ready. Even with this addition some portions of the city will be short of water all the year. This trouble has been accumulating through the penurious policy of the city council for many years, a black mark against municipal ownership. City Engineer Ericson has been pumping at the council for the necessary money for years with little success. It took six years to get the Roseland pumping station which is soon to be opened otherwise the famine would not now be so acute. He asked for these pumping engines for another station, and was given one. For years upper flats in Lake View have been short of water at least a part of each day in summer and the sprinkling of lawns has practically been prohibited in that and other districts. Summer broke upon the city suddenly this year and the water department was unprepared. It has issued a general warning to Chicago people. "Obey the sprinkling regulations, and do not waste water in bath rooms, laundries or kitchens." During the year 1909 the water pumped for the city's use was one hundred seventy-six billion gallons. The total value of the water works property now is approximately $60,000,000 but the expenditure of nearly one-third more is necessary to satisfy the thirsts and supply water for the baths and lawns of the city.

MISSIE READY TO TAKE NAVY.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Charles Bolman, interested in the U. S. Navy mine, in Copper Basin, returned to his camp yesterday and states that George Missie, who holds the option for its purchase, is in the east, and will take the property over as soon as he returns, which is expected in a few days. Mr. Missie recently examined the old workings, and is pleased at the showing. He is making the selection of special machinery to treat the ore which carry large values in zinc and silver and other minerals of nominal value. Dave Biles, of this city is also interested in the property. The intention is to establish a permanent camp and to operate on a large scale, treating the output at the works.
